Dear Mr. Rogers:

Thank you very much for your generous donation of the cough and vocalization monitoring wearable sensor, which we officially acquired for the collection of Cooper Hewitt, Smithsonian Design Museum on December 14, 2021.

The museum depends upon private contributions to enrich its many collections, and through the generosity of friends such as yourself, Cooper Hewitt has developed a world-renowned collection.

On behalf of the thousands of public visitors who enjoy our exhibitions, education programs, and digital content, please accept our sincerest gratitude for your support and generosity. During the next few months the public will be able to access these works on our collection website.

Very sincerely yours,

Matilda McQuaid
Acting Curatorial Director
